

23rd Annual Child Abuse Prevention Luncheon & Conference

CONNECTING THE DOTS

TO PREVENT CHILD ABUSE

Focusing On The Link Between Child Abuse & Human Trafficking

For 23 years, the Exchange Club Family Center has provided a place for local organizations to discuss best practices to strengthen families and prevent child abuse, while honoring distinguished industry leaders for commendable work in the field. This year's conference and luncheon theme is Connecting The Dots To Prevent Child Abuse, with a special focus on the link between child abuse and human trafficking. Panels and Discussion Sessions include:

- Child Abuse and Human Trafficking Awareness & Prevention
- How We Combat Human Trafficking & Child Abuse In Jacksonville - A Roundtable Discussion With The Experts
- Immigration and International Human Trafficking

Honorary Chair:

Kristin Keen, Founder & President
Rethreaded, Inc.

Kristin lived and worked in Kolkata, India for five years, co-founding a business, Sari Bari, that now employs more than 120 survivors. Returning to Jacksonville, Kristin felt called to fight the sex trade in the community and Rethreaded was born. Since 2012, Rethreaded has helped 20 women locally, providing over 10,000 hours of work to women in Jacksonville. In 2015, Kristin was awarded the "40 Under 40" Up and Coming Business Leaders award in Jacksonville.

Featured Presenter:

Ericka Curran, Professor
Florida Coastal School of Law

Ericka Curran is the supervising professor of the Immigrant & Human Rights at Florida Coastal School of Law and Director of the school's Experiential Learning Program. She also teaches Human Trafficking Law, Immigration Law, Forced Migration and Immigration Relief for Victims of Crime. She is a member of the North East Florida Human Trafficking Coalition and on the Board of Directors of the American Immigration Lawyers Association of Central Florida.

Keynote Speaker:

Dr. Richard Lapchick, Director
The Institute for Diversity and Ethics In Sports. University of Central Florida's DeVos Sport Management Program

Human rights activist, pioneer for racial equality, internationally recognized expert on sports issues, scholar and author, Dr. Richard E. Lapchick is often described as "the racial conscience of sport." He is President and CEO of the National Consortium for Academics and Sport (NCAS) and helped bring the NCAS national office to University of Central Florida, where he is a Professor and Director of the DeVos Sport Management Program.

As the founder and president of the NCAS, Dr. Lapchick helped create a program to increase awareness of human trafficking. Targeting 10 U.S. colleges and universities, the NCAS launched the Shut Out Trafficking (SOT) initiative during the 2014-15 school year. This initiative brought together prominent student-athletes, coaches, athletic administrators and students for a one-week program on each campus to raise awareness about human trafficking in the United States and inspire students to take action. The event reached nearly 20,000 students and will continue again in the 2015-2016 school year. Shut Out Trafficking is a partnership with the US Fund for UNICEF.

Honor Local Child Abuse Prevention Advocates
Earn CEUs on all conference sessions

Register for conference and/or luncheon today! www.exchangeclubfamilycenter.com

2016 Panelists:

Michelle Clowe, World Relief Jacksonville
Jackson Short, Jacksonville Sheriff's Office
Lisa Marellis, Federal Bureau of Investigations
Crystal Freed, The Freed Firm, PA

Melissa Quinn Teferra, Child Guidance Center
Marina Anderson, Department of Children & Families
Rachel White, HerSong
Sarah Markman-Sayer, Family Support Services